This was the third trial, two juries having previously disagreed.

Oil Prospects Good.

Later, Mrs. Moss died Sunday morning at 2 o'clock. She leaves an aged husband and several sons and daughters. Much sympathy is felt here for the family. The remains were conveyed to Hardyville, Hart county for burial. Death came before Prof. Moss reached his mother's bedside. The deceased had visited Columbia and those who became acquainted with her were very fond of her company. Her death was a great shock to Hart county, and especially about Hardyville, where she resided for many years.

Destructive Tornado.

Fifty-six persons are known to have been killed and several hundred injured as the result of a tornado which swept through Central Illinois late Saturday afternoon.

Shelley-Collins Wedding.

The marriage of Miss Lillian Shelley and Mr. Vander Collins was solemnized Sunday evening, at seven thirty o'clock, at this place, at the home of the bride's uncle, Rev. S. G. Shelley.

The bride was in school at Lindsey-Wilson, a part of the past year. Her attractive personality and agreeable manner made a number of friends for her. She is a daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Campbell Shelley, and her home is near Albany, Clinton Co.

Mr. Collins also was a student of Lindsey-Wilson—the greater part of the year, and teacher of the Business course as well. He is a native of Adair Co.

Although the wedding was quiet, it was a very pretty one. The bride wore a very becoming gown of light blue crepe de chine, and the groom was attired in the conventional black.

Rev. Shelley said an unusually impressive ceremony, after which Mrs. Shelley served a delicious three course luncheon.

Only a few guests were present. The ones from out of town were: Miss Susie Shelley and Mr. Stockton, sister and uncle of the bride. Mr. John Collins, brother of the groom, and Miss Barger, from near his home. The other visitors were: Dr. and Mrs. Cartwright, Mr. and Mrs. James Garnett and little son, Robert Walker, Mrs. Hynes and daughters, Misses Agnes and Margaret Hynes.

Mr. and Mrs. Collins will spend a few days at his home near here, before leaving for Chicago, where Mr. Collins is teaching in a Business college.

Prof. Moss and Lindsey-Wilson.

Prof. R. R. Moss came to Columbia at the opening of the Lindsey-Wilson Training School, fourteen years ago, as one of the faculty, taking charge of the Normal Department, and has been all through these years with the school, and has for several years been one of the co-principals.

At the expiration of the present school year Prof. Moss resigned his position with the school as one of the Principals because of the heavy work that had burdened him so many years. He felt a change was necessary as touching his health. The Board of Managers regret very much that it became necessary for him to sever his connection with the school, as do the patrons of the school. He makes this change with the kindest feelings toward the school and the Board, and will ever be ready to speak a good word, and render any service for it he can. His friends are many all over this hill country.

Prof. P. G. Chandler, a young man of scholarship and ability, has been elected Principal, and the outlook for the school is bright.

The following is a resolution that was passed by the Board of Managers in a meeting last week:

Resolved, that the Board of Managers places on record its appreciation of the faithful, honest and efficient service of Profs. Moss and Chandler as principals of Lindsey-Wilson, and that we express to Prof. Moss our appreciation of his long and devoted service to the school and we pray God's guidance and blessings upon him in whatever field He may guide him.

Latest War News.

Seventy-six persons were killed and 174 injured in Dover or Folkestone, England, early Friday evening in the most ambitious raid upon England yet made by German aircraft. Among the killed, twenty-seven were women and twenty-three children. Of the injured, forty-three were women and nineteen children. There were sixteen aircraft in the raid probably all airplanes, as no Zeppelins are mentioned in the report. Which of the places suffered most severely is not disclosed by British official reports, but sixty bombs were showeyed upon one of the communities, the bombs, which were of large size, cutting a swath across the city and killing many persons who were in the chief business thoroughfare. On their return across the English Channel the German raiders were attacked by air squadrons of the Royal Navy Air service from Dunkirk, and three of them, all airplanes, were shot down.

THE BIG LOT SALE.

It Will Evidently Be a Drawing Card, Hundreds of People Expected to Attend.

A BRASS BAND TO MAKE THE MUSIC.

The lot sale which will be pulled off here, next Thursday, will attract people from all sections. An opportunity will be given people, who desire to become residents of Columbia, to buy lots, attractive and beautiful, for much less than their value. As has heretofore been stated the Wakefield Realty Company some time ago purchased the fair grounds, known all over the State to be the most beautiful in Kentucky, cut the plot into fifty-seven town lots, every lot facing a street and backed by alleys. Not a lot fronts an alley. There are two splendid never failing wells on the grounds, and an abundance of shade. There is not an undesirable lot in the whole survey. The size of the lots varies from 50 foot fronts to 250 feet deep, and the hundreds of trees on the grounds, all whitewashed, makes this a beautiful addition to Columbia, and with residents dotted all over it, will soon take the name, New Columbia.

This addition is only a short distance from the Lindsey-Wilson Training School, convenient for every family who have children to educate. This addition is also in the Graded school district.

The oil interest in Adair is all the talk, and Columbia is bound to grow, hence the necessity for more building lots.

Attend the sale next Thursday, buy a lot, build a dwelling and become a citizen of the best and most thriftest inland towns in Kentucky, the one that is not surpassed in handsome residents and attractive business houses. Our mode of travel is principally by use of the automobile, reaching the railroad in one hour and fifteen minutes. Do not forget the date, Thursday, the 31st of May.

Every person who attends the sale will be given a free ticket which gives the holder a chance for some imported, handpainted china. You may hold the lucky number, come and see.

Decoration Day.

(By Robert Lee Campbell)

This poem will be read at Arlington National Cemetery next Wednesday. It will also be read at the Eastern and Cave Hill Cemeteries here in Louisville. And if there is some one in Columbia who will do so, I would be glad to have it read in Columbia cemetery at the grave of Col. Wolford or our old friend, Gov. J. R. Hindman. To-day we decorate the graves Of many of the nation's braves, And though their forms lie now serene Beneath these flower-strewn mounds of green, The glory which their valor won To-day shines bright as noonday sun. 'Twas they who to us freedom gave And caused our gallant flag to wave. No more they hear the call to arms, They rest secure from war's alarms. We gather round their mounds to-day And to their memory homage pay, But Flowers are naught lest we the Son, Maintain the freedom they have won. So promise now that o'er this grave The stars and stripes for aye shall wave.

At Lexington or Monterey, At Gettysburg, Manila Bay; Where'er the stars and stripes did wave We there could find our gallant brave. These men their noble lives did give That we in freedom's land might live, So promise now that o'er this grave The stars and stripes for aye shall wave.

At Lexington or Monterey, At Gettysburg, Manila Bay; Where'er the stars and stripes did wave We there could find our gallant brave. These men their noble lives did give That we in freedom's land might live, So promise now that o'er this grave The stars and stripes for aye shall wave.

Division once their ranks broke forth, But now we know no South, no North; To-day in unison we blend And blue and gray alike are friend. With flowers alike their graves we strew And thereby show that we are true. We pledge anew that o'er this grave The stars and stripes for aye shall wave.

To-day we decorate the graves Of many of the nation's braves. To us their gallant lives should be A guide to greater liberty. Though tyrant foes our land assail We must not let their arms prevail, So promise now that o'er this grave The stars and stripes for aye shall wave.

The number of deaths caused from Sunday night's tornado, in Western Kentucky, is known to be 40 and it may reach 75.

Appeal to Women for Economy.

Washington, May 13.—In an appeal to-day "to the women of the United States," Secretary of Agriculture Houston declares that they can do their "bit" most effectually in the national emergency by practicing effective thrift in their households. The appeal was promoted by many requests for a statement as to the service women can render the Nation in the direction of producing and conserving agricultural products.

"Every woman can render important service to the nation in its present emergency," says the appeal. "She need not leave her home or abandon her home duties to help the armed forces. She can help to feed and clothe our armies and help to supply food to those beyond the seas by practicing effective thrift in her own household. "Every ounce of food the housewife saves from being wasted in her home—all food which she or her children produce in the garden and can preserve—every garment which care and skilful repair make it unnecessary to replace—all lesser that household's draft on the already insufficient world supplies.

"To save food the housewife must learn to plan economical and properly balanced meals which, while nourishing each member of the family properly do not encourage overeating or offer excessive and wasteful variety. It is her duty to use all effective methods to protect food from spoilage by heat, dirt, mice or insects. She must acquire the culinary ability to utilize every bit of edible food that comes into her home.

"She must learn to use beans, peas and milk products as partial substitutes for meat. She must make it her business to see that nothing nutritious is thrown away or allowed to be wasted.

"Waste in any individual household may seem to be insignificant, but if only a single ounce of edible food, on the average is allowed to spoil or be thrown away in each of our 20,000,000 homes, over 1,300,000 pounds of material would be wasted each day.

"Chamberlain's Tablets Have Done Wonders for me."

"I have been a sufferer from stomach trouble for a number of years, and although I have used a great number of remedies recommended for this complaint, Chamberlain's Tablets is the first medicine that has given me positive and lasting relief," writes Mrs. Anna Kadin, Spencerport, N. Y. "Chamberlain's Tablets have done wonders for me and I value them very highly." Obtainable at Paull Drug Co.

Mass Meeting of Russian Thieves.

Petrograd, May 13.—A mass meeting of thieves was recently held at Rostoff on the Don to demand a share in the new freedom and a chance to turn over a new life.

The chief of the local militia and the president and several members of the council of workmen's and soldiers deputies were present on invitation.

Practically all branches of the profession of thievery were represented, and several of the most accomplished members made speeches in which they outlined the difficulties confronting them and declared that it was impossible to return to honest pursuits without the help and support of the community. The speakers complained that recently the population had risen against them and, in some instances, went so far as to lynch some of their brothers.

Endurance—the Supreme Tire Quality

United States Tires have proved that they have that supreme quality, —that miles are packed into their structure the way endurance is packed into steel.

A vast number of the motoring public know that by experience,

—and they have answered in the only way that the buying public can answer,

—by giving United States Tires tremendous sales increases,

—sales increases that are vastly greater than even the sensational increase in the number of automobiles this year over last.

Speculation and Speculator.

Joseph Leiter, "Ex-Wheat King," is quoted as saying:

"I can not imagine a more treasonable, unprincipled thing than for any American citizen to speculate on any grains or other foodstuffs at this time."

Joseph is right. But why restrict it to "this time?" The offense is worse than ordinarily, to be sure, on account of the great need of food reasonable prices, here and abroad. But it's merely a question of degree. The principle is always the same.

It is "treasonable" and unprincipled" to force up the price of grain to-day, was it so very different in the days when Joseph himself was trying to corner the wheat market and levy toll on every loaf of bread in every American household?

The speculators and "cornerers," large and small, are neither better nor worse now than they are in normal times. We see their offense in clearer flight, that is all. To forbid speculation and other forms of price manipulation now, merely as a concession to transient war conditions, is as absurd as it would be to forbid highway robbery only in years when citizens needed all their money, or to forbid murder only when the population was scarce.

Clear Away the Waste.

Bowel regularity is the secret of good health, bright eyes, clear complexions, and Dr. King's New Life Pills are a mild and gentle laxative that regulates the bowels and relieves the congested intestines by removing the accumulated waste without griping. Take a pill before retiring and that heavy head, that dull spring fever feeling disappears. Get Dr. King's New Life Pills at Paull Drug Co., 25c.

Sidney S. Muir, Louisville's license inspector, was found dead in his room at the Hotel Henry Watterson. Death was caused by a cerebral hemorrhage.

Here's a pleasant cough syrup that every child likes to take, Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey. If your child has a deep hacking cough that worries you give him Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey, the soothing pine balsams relieve the cough, loosen the phlegm and heal the irritated tissues. A Tribute to Mrs. J. O. Russell.

In the passing on of Mrs. J. O. Russell to her Heavenly Home, the Woman's Club has sustained a loss.

She was one of its charter members, and, until ill health made her unable to attend its meetings, she was present at the different sessions and interested in its welfare and progress.

Mrs. Russell possessed many womanly graces. Chief among them was her interest in any work, that was for the uplift of the individual or community.

The members of the Woman's Club wish to emulate her beautiful character, to treasure her memory, and to express their sincere sympathy to Mr. Russell in his hour of loneliness and to her relatives in their bereavement.

The Club also desires a copy of this tribute to be sent to the Adair County News and a copy recorded in its minutes.

Nothing On Him.

A New York merchant is inordinately proud of the fact that one of his ancestors affixed his name to the Declaration of Independence. Once a Jewish traveler called as the merchant was signing checks with many a curve and flourish. The patience of the commercial man becoming exhausted as he waited during this performance, he finally observed:

"You have a fine signature, Mr. Hancock."

"Yes," admitted the merchant. "I should have. One of my forefathers signed the Declaration of Independence."

"So," said the commercial traveler. "Well, you ain't got nothings on me. One of my forefathers signed the Ten Commandments."

VITALE, BOY CREATORE, AND HIS BAND COMING FOR TWO FULL CONCERTS AT THE CHAUTAUQUA

THIS is the band that created such a sensation over the Indiana-Ohio Chautauqua circuit in 1915. Vitale and his band will be back at the Chautauqua again this summer. It was the favorite, the most talked about attraction two years ago. Vitale, "the boy wonder," "the young Creatore," the chap in knickerbockers, who stepped out in the front of the platform before a great band composed of men twice his age and directed them with such skillful leadership that it will always be remembered in any community in which he has been seen and heard.

Every committee on the circuit that season said, "We want Vitale back again." But arrangements had already been made to put the Vitale band on the western circuit of the Central Community Chautauquas last summer, and we are bringing him back into Ohio and Indiana at the first opportunity.

This will mean a big day at the Chautauqua. Arrangements have been made to give the band the entire third day. Heretofore the band has shared honors with some lecturer or similar attraction, but this year the band will have the entire day, appearing in two full concerts, afternoon and evening. They will have as soloist Torcom Bezazian, noted American tenor, whose Victor phonograph records have been heard around the world. Mr. Bezazian will wear the costume of a Russian Cossack and sing Armenian and Russian folk songs, which will be a decided novelty. Mr. Bezazian was the feature attraction on the New York circuit of the Community Chautauquas last summer and in his short stay in this country has quickly grasped the demands of the American Chautauqua.

Stanley L. Krebs, Noted Lecturer on Business, Coming For Chautauqua

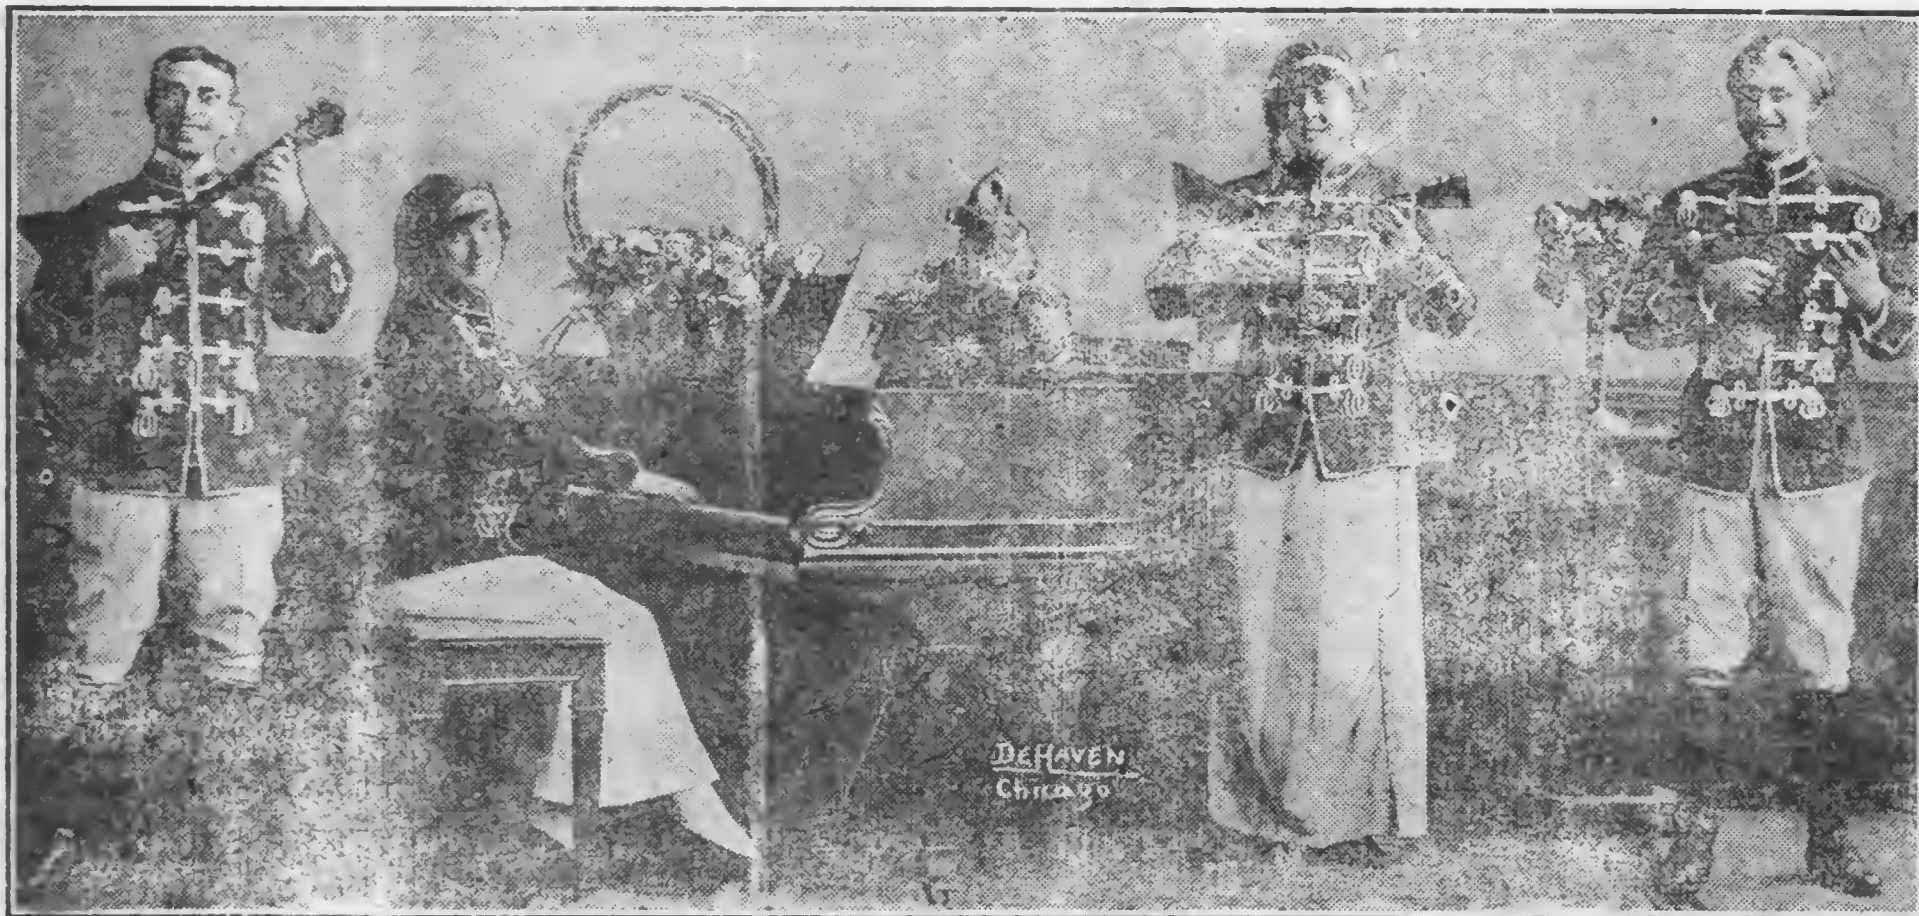

STANLEY L. KREBS is coming to speak here Chautauqua week on "Two Snakes In Eden." His home is in Philadelphia. He has traveled and lectured on three continents and is prominent in educational, professional and business spheres. He is a member of the London Society of Arts, of the American Academy of Political and Social Science, of the Academy of Political Science of New York, of the National Geographical Society and of the Medical-Legal Society.

He is known the country over as a lecturer on business subjects. He was engaged by John Wanamaker to lecture every weekday for three years to groups of his sales force of more than 3,000 on store management and personal efficiency. He has spoken before some of the largest gatherings of merchants and manufacturers in this country.

He is a man of forceful and magnetic personality, and he puts new life and new fire and energy into communities that are sometimes slow to realize their larger possibilities. For example, a few weeks ago he spoke in Fargo, N. D., one of the live, aggressive towns in that section. The next day the Fargo Forum said, "He is a concentrated bundle of energy who never seems to tire, and he generated enough energy and community enthusiasm during his stay here to last Fargo for a long time."

Loseff's Imperial Quartette To Play Russian Balalaikas

THE Imperial Russian Quartette, headed by Josef Loseff, is one of the delightful musical features of the Chautauqua. It is to appear in two concerts on the first of the five days' session in full concert in the afternoon and in a prelude to the lecture at night. The company is strong from an artistic standpoint. It will present some of the so called classical as well as popular selections. Features of its program will include Russian folk songs, played with the accompaniment of the Russian bala-laikas, an instrument of the guitar type that has been popular in eastern and central Europe for a century or more. The Quartette will appear in full Russian military costume, its bright scarlet jackets presenting a most cheerful and imposing spectacle. Mme. Loseff, soprano, will sing some of the old

Russian favorite home songs that have been sung by the firesides of the peasants in Russia for generations and, in addition, will sing selections from one or more light operas. Their music appeals to music lovers as well as to thousands who claim to have no knowledge of music.

MENDELSSOHN SEXTETTE

CLOSING MUSICAL FEATURE OF THE LOCAL FIVE DAY CHAUTAUQUA.

Former Nebraska Governor to Speak On "The Challenge of America"

As this is patriotic year in our country and as great national and international issues are absorbing the attention of all thinking men and women as they never have before, the Chautauqua management has arranged to bring here for the last day of the Chautauqua ex-Governor Chester H. Aldrich of Nebraska, who will lecture on "The Challenge of America."

Governor Aldrich has exerted a strong influence in the shaping, passing and enforcing of laws in his own state for the good of the people. He was the author of the Nebraska commission law, of the Aldrich freight rate law, and in drafting the pure food and primary election laws and led in the enactment of the anti-pass and the two cent fare laws. He has served both as state senator and governor of his state and today is one of the leading lawyers in the middle west.

He is a gifted speaker, and his address at the governors' conference in New Jersey a few years ago was of such force and character that it was widely quoted the country over. The New York Times said, "He woke up the east on railroad legislation."

He was born in Ashtabula county, O., and is a graduate of the Ohio State university.

From North Carolina.

Editor News:-

To begin with, I wrote you two weeks since that I am still at the old stand, but my P. O. address has been changed. We have good, sand-clay roads here, and every nook and corner of Cleveland county has rural free delivery service. Of course the moss-backs died hard; but we found dirt enough to give them a deep and respectable burial, and hence can go from somewhere to somewhere, have good mail service, three railroads in the county, prospects for two inter-urban lines; a dog-tax that makes every dog-owner pay one dollar a head; and, poor as our soil is, manage to live, move and have a being. But conditions are by no means ideal. We have but five months school term, and that is two months longer than men who are "agin" good roads and furiously "agin" taxing dogs desire. But we need at least seven months school; and at least 40 per cent. more pay for teachers. But those teachers should be worth the money, and no others employed.

As to the power of education and efficiency, Germany furnishes an object lesson. Whatever may be said of its ruthless autocratic spirit; they are fighting the world and are not yet conquered. Of course as they have fired on our flag, and destroyed some of our commerce, I am in favor of "Old Glory" against the world, the flesh and the devil; but England and Russia would never have subjugated the imperial creation of Otto Von Bismarck. But one out of five thousand but can read and write in Germany, while the rate of illiteracy in Russia is 78 per cent. Not only in war; but they excel in almost every field of human endeavor. In agriculture, chemistry, music, manufacturing, we have found out by lack of dyestuffs and potash for commercial fertilizer, how we lack her skill. Why can't we make potash and dyestuffs? Ignorance, of course. The rate of illiteracy in North Carolina is 14 per cent., and very nearly as low in Kentucky. Such states as Washington, where illiteracy is lowest, you see something going on. Russia and the United States could easily feed the world if they were as progressive as France and Germany; but we are facing a prospective food famine. Despite the ports of Germany being blockaded by the navy of England, Germany has fought nearly all Europe, and remains unconquered. We fought and subjugated the Indian by superior intelligence and equipment; and the invincible legions of Julius Caesar overpowered the tribes of Gaul and Britain who were our ancestors.

We certainly are in war and are finding Jordan a hard road to travel. As has been the case in all previous struggles, the war orator and jingo journalist have howled like the red Numidian lion for people to "die for the flag," but so soon as war is a reality they become silent in four languages: while the silent farmer, artisan and teacher, who are the flower and pride of chivalry enlist and do the dying; while the war evangel, with his mouth, becomes a shoddy contractor, kills men with embalmed beef and the army canteen, extorts on the widows and orphans caused by war; and when peace reigns, take charge of the church, business and politics. If anybody sees a Wall Street manipulator among the mangled heaps of the slain, I expect to see a mule angel twanging a harp on the shores of sweet deliverance.

We have here some very bellicose lawyers, preachers and editors who are pining to die for "Old Glory." They have mourned and refused to be comforted because President Wilson permitted our flag to be insulted; and wanted Uncle Sam to grab the Stars and Stripes in one hand and a meat axe in the other, and conquer all Europe in general and Germany in particular. But upon declaration of war, I expected to see them throng recruiting stations. I was opposed to war, and was in the "slacker," "coward" contingent, composed of Bryan, Claud Kitchen, Champ Clark, etc. But Bryan enlisted as a private, and in order to shed glory on a dimmed escutcheon and sustain a falling reputation; I wrote Gov. T. W. Bickett that I would serve in the trenches with Bryan and Kitchen, as Shelby expected to furnish 10 major generals, 20 brigadiers, 50 colonels, 100 majors and 500 captains. This was published in Greensboro News, (N. C.), and appeared in Chicago and Chattanooga papers. I reminded Gov. Kitchen that an ounce of enlistment is worth a ton of big talk, and that I am near 60, and when stripped for the ring, weigh 200. Charity and Children, a Baptist Church organ of this state, comments thusly:-

"Corn Cracker," whose surname is M. L. White, and who stands with Bryan and Kitchen on the war question, has offered his services to Gov. Bickett and stands ready to shoulder a gun or a hoe in defense of his country.

"Corn Cracker" calls for the military men who have been bellowing for war to come across, but they are perfectly willing for this "coward" and "slacker" to beat them to it. Talk has always been cheap, and the loudest talker when there is no danger becomes suddenly silent when the first cap pops. Oh you jingoes."

It is hoped that "Theodore the Un-speakable" and his nigger contingent will soon arrive in the trenches where he so blatantly desires to go, and at the cessation of hostilities, Bryan, Kitchen and I hope to see him and the Kaiser fight under Marquis of Queensbury rules; and then let Jes. Willard lick the winner. That will get two meddles—one characters to take the count; and then peace will reign and the year of "Jubilee" dawn. Were it not for the Atilla-like Kaiser, Wall Street, and "Theodore the Un-speakable," this war would not have occurred. Now the anxious inquirer who wanted to locate "Old man White," can bring peace to his lacerated soul and respite to his raging brain Shelby has had four enlistments, one of which "took." Every farmer boy is of lawful age, and in the pink of condition.

Editor News:-

As I have been away since the 16th day of last September, will try to write a few lines for your paper. This sure is a land of flowers, cool nights and warm days. Cool all the time in the shade. This sure is a healthy place. So many come here for their health. There is people here from every nation. There are a man next door to us, who came here a few years ago almost gone (as he thought) with a lung trouble, and today he is as strong as any man. People stay out of doors all they can and sleep on porches. Every thing is high here war talk is all you hear. Well, Bro. Williams I take The News and read all of your letters while you was traveling and when I read what you said about an air plane, I laughed. Just to think what one could see to travel.

I have seen them quite often since I have been here. I heard a noise one day and went to the door and one was up over us, and I saw one at night and it threw out a bomb, and you ought to have heard it when it hit the ground. But the biggest sight I have seen or heard since I have been here was W. J. Bryan, Wednesday night. I went to hear him speak to six or seven thousand people. He looks like I thought he would. I had seen so many of his pictures and they are all good. His speech was more of a sermon than a speech. He sure is a good man. I would like to name a hundred boys Bryan. I will send greetings to all of my Adair county friends. I still love my old Kentucky home. I will close by asking God's blessings on the editor and all of the readers.

Will Meet "Uncle" Jimmie Breeding.

Many people remember the custom of "Uncle Jimmie Breeding, who lived at Breeding, this county, a Christian not only in name, but every act of his life marked him as such. It mattered not how high corn got he sold it at $2.50 per barrel, and when it was very scarce and but little money in circulation, he sold it to his neighbors on time, directed those who had the cash to pay, to go elsewhere for their corn, as he had to supply those who were moneyless. He sold meat at 10 cents per pound it mattered not what it was selling for in the market. He died, and in our opinion went as straight to heaven as do the martins to their box.

The following story brings out a man whose philanthropy is the same as was Mr. Breeding. The story comes from Franklin, Ky.:

Across the Tennessee line, near Rapids, in this county, lives a farmer, Cyrus Shultz, for whom the Federal Government need never trouble to appoint a Food Control Committee. When corn advanced to $10 per barrel Mr. Shultz refused to sell a grain except to those who needed it for bread and then he would accept only $2.50 per barrel, or 50 cents per bushel. Already he has disposed of half his surplus at the figures quoted and absolutely refuses to sell to those who would feed hogs or cattle for speculative purposes. He could have sold the entire quantity for $1,000, but already has allowed many of his poor neighbors to cart away a bushel upon their promise to pay.

Mr. Shultz is a small farmer and possessed of only moderate means.

One Too Many.

Mr. Bruce Barton, editor of Every Week, was describing the mental trepidation of a friend of his who was making his first public speech.

When he got up to speak seemed to him like the result of a test a wife tried on her husband who came home early one morning from a banquet where there had been a quantity of some unknown beverage.

The wife, who found her fears had been realized, placed two chairs facing each other, sat down in one and applied the stare test, looking upon the inebriated one with a cold, fixed stare.

"I'll tell you all about it, my dear," he hiccuped, "but that woman in the other chair looks so much like you I can't tell which is which."

Home Canning Experience.

I have had only three or four years experience in home canning on the farm, but I enjoy the work fine and the Inland Farmer and enjoy reading its interesting pages. I learn to grow and can farm products by reading the Inland Farmer. I own two home canners, one which was given me for canning the largest variety of fruits and vegetables in Jackson county in 1915.

I grow and can sugar corn, for which I find a ready market at $1.20 per dozen. I first gather the corn fresh from the field; shuck, silk and boil on the cob enough to set the milk; cut from the cob, pack in No. 2 tin cans, fill nearly full with water, add one heaping teaspoonful of a mixture of two-thirds salt and one-third sugar; exhaust ten minutes and process one hour each day for three days. I have private customers who like my corn better than what they buy from the stores.

I also can snap beans in No. 3 tin cans for which I sell to private customers at $1.80 per dozen. We also sell tomatoes which we can in No. 3 tin cans for $1.80 a dozen. I canned about 200 quarts of peaches in glass last year. I paid 50 cents per bushel for them and sold them at 15 cents per quart and the jar returned, and could have sold many more. Apples were not so plentiful last year. We sold them for 12½ cents per quart. I canned 400 quarts of blackberries which grew wild in old waste fields, and received 12½ cents per quart, and huckleberries I sell at 18 and 20 cents per quart.

Among the finest preserves are the ground cherry preserves. I grow some in the garden for that purpose and gather all the wild ones I can find. I also like to can and preserve pears. I find a ready sale for all the preserves and jelly I care to make and sell.

I think every family should have a home canner to can fruits and vegetables for home use, even if they do not care to can for market purposes. I never expect to be without a home canner in my home. I find I can save many things that would go to waste.—Miss Lucy Price.

Adv

Cause of Army Rejections.

More applicants for service are rejected for bad teeth than any other cause, say the recruiting officers. A recent investigation made by the U. S. Public Health Service in connection with studies of rural school children showed 43.9 per cent. had defective teeth and only 16.9 per cent. never use a tooth brush, 58.2 used one occasionally and only 20.7 per cent. used one daily.

Defective teeth reduce physical efficiency. Dirty, snaggle-toothed mouths are responsible for many cases of heart disease, rheumatism and other organic affections. The children are not responsible for neglected state of their teeth. The ignorant and careless parent is to blame for the conditions—a condition which hampers mental and physical growth and puts a permanent handicap in our future citizens. School teachers can and are doing much in inculcating habits of personal cleanliness in the rural child, but this will fail of the highest accomplishment unless parents co-operate heartily and continuously. This is a duty which you owe your children.

A Symbol of Health.

The Pythagorians of Ancient Greece ate simple food, practiced temperance and purity. As a badge they used the five pointed star which they regarded as a symbol of health. A red five pointed star appears on each package of Chamberlain's Tablets, and still fulfills its ancient mission as a symbol of health. If you are troubled with indigestion, biliousness or constipation get a package of these tablets from your druggist. You will be surprised at the quick relief which they afford. Obtainable at Paul Drug Co.

One potato is now accepted in place of ten cents cash for admission to some moving picture shows in Toledo, Ohio. At one theater more than ten dollars worth of potatoes were received. Potatoes were retailing there at six cents a pound, costing the same as grapefruit and oranges.

Activities of Women.

Mrs. Ivy Buehl, of Atlanta, Ga., has been appointed a deputy collector of internal revenue.

Mrs. I. Richberg Hornsby, of Chicago, has an ambition to become the first American war aviator.

The sex disability of women in Netherlands has been removed by the unanimous vote of parliament.

Female instructors are rapidly replacing the men at Rugby, England's famous school of learning.

England is urging the women of that country to take agricultural work so as to relieve more men for the army.

The prefect of police in Paris has authorized the employment of women as motor drivers on the street cars.

Miss Mabel Blackburn has invented an overshoe for horses' feet which prevents the animal slipping on wet streets.

Whooping Cough.

One of the most successful preparations in use for this disease is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. S. W. McClinton, Blandon Springs, Ala., writes, "Our baby had whooping cough as bad as most any baby could have it. I gave him Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and it soon got him well." Obtainable at Paul Drug Co.

The engagement of Miss Peachie Sims is announced, and she has taken all the chairs out of her parlor except two.

Miss Hostetter Hocks has blossomed out as an elocutionist. She leaves many relatives besides a large number of friends.

During the distressful period of the high cost of paper some of the manufacturers of low cost shoes were almost driven to the extreme of using leather in the soles.

On Thursday night Sim Flinders saw a star fall in the vicinity of the Ray Straw store and has left for that point in his wagon. He is expected back with it at any time.

Slim Pickins fell off of the water wagon Saturday night. He fixed it up by saying that even a spider web is only as strong as its weakest spot.

Yam Sims went over and called on Miss Fruzie Allsop Sunday night. Upon his arrival there he stopped his watch, as time is no object in her presence.

Summer Colds Weaken

They are even more dangerous than winter colds, for they hang on so long that they become chronic catarrh. Heat and dust aggravate them, cause the infected surface to spread, and fill the body with systemic catarrh. Neglect costs health and energy.

PERUNA EXPELS CATARRH

It does more—it builds up the weakened system, regulates the digestion, removes the inflammation, overcomes the poisons of catarrh, and invigorates all over. Forty-four years of success proves its great value, of which thousands gladly testify.

Accept the verdict of two generations yourself. Don't be swayed by prejudice, when your health is at stake. Take Peruna and get well. Liquid or tablet form, whichever is the more convenient.

An ingenious railroad clerk at Taylors, South Carolina, has invented a device to prevent accidents to automobiles at railroad crossings. The workings of the attachment are simple and is explained as follows: While the car is running 15 miles per hour a white bulb shows on the radiator; at 25 miles a green bulb appears; at 40 a red bulb, and when the driver begins to "bat" 'em out around 60 per, box under the seat begins to play "Nearer My God to Thee?"
